Title: Future use of former Dow property
This property is zoned for industrial Use. While there has been much discussion, the Commission will not comment at this time.

While the new company will only use around ten acres of the land, the Commission will wait to see what happens to the remaining property and for a report from DEEP. Dow Chemical has maintained ownership of the property across the street

There is a group of interested people in Gales Ferry that are concerned about the effects of the traffic on Route 12.
