III. PRESENTATIONS

1. Chris Rowlins, Fiducient Advisor.

Chris Rowlins, Fiduciary Investment Advisors presented the Town's first quarter investment review, the April flash report and an Executive summary.

Mr. Rowlins started by saying that the first Quarter looked very good. He explained the Portfolio Expenses which consist of 44 basis points, Webster Bank base cost which is a minimum annual fee of $10,000.00 and the Fiducient Advisor's fee which is a flat fee (not subject to market performance or value).

Market themes -

Volatility has persisted across all segments of the market. Federal policies, economic strength and stress in the regional bank sector continue to make headlines.

There is a notion of reduction in inflation, however the reduction path is not expected to be smooth. The silver lining of inflation is more returns on fixed incomes.

Economic review -

The labor market remains resilient. Strong consumer financial positions.

Bonds are doing well.

U.S. dollar continues to fall. The dollar index fell 1.0 percent in the first quarter.

The War in Ukraine was expected to have a major impact on the demand for gasoline and oil, but it did not unfold. The mild winter also helped limit the impact on demand.

International markets have been strong, they were up 8.5% for the quarter. Factors such as the opening of China's economy after Covid lockdown has helped the international markets. Emerging markets such as Latin America and Mexico have done very well since on-shoring their supplies.

Portfolio -

Approximately 1.4 million dollars in gains for the quarter and 1.5 million in gains for the fiscal year. Ending value of 28.4 million dollars at the end of the first quarter.

Year to date fixed income was up 3.7%.

The decision to add the BlackRock strategy played a good role since BlackRock was up 1.4%, while other strategies were either flat or down.

Domestic equity such as Touchstone and Neuberger have delivered some solid results.

April Flash Report -

The environment was conducive for real assets.

The Portfolio was up 1% for the month.

Benchmark was up 70 basis points.

Commodities were down slightly.

Bond markets saw modest gains.

U.S. Small cap lagged.

U.S Large cap outperformed on muted volatility and strong value sector performance.

REITs posted a positive performance.

The April portfolio was a bit flat but if the overall momentum continues until June, it will be favorable because the June 30th number is the most important one from a funding perspective.

Manager Performance -Rates were trending sideways but there is a higher coupon.

Domestic Equity was up 40 basis points.

International Equity was approximately 40 basis points ahead. Invesco continued to deliver attractive results.

Real assets were up 1.5% and the benchmark was up 1.3%.

Executive Summary -

Fiducient Advisors recommendations/comments:

Asset Allocation - 2023 Capital Market Assumptions & Asset Allocation. Fixed income remains an important part of a broadly diversified portfolio and can serve to temper portfolio volatility.

The restoration of higher interest rates in 2023 is expected to generate higher returns for the portfolio's fixed income allocation.

Given the plan's 6.25% discount rate and strong funded status, the Retirement Board may want to revisit the portfolio's allocation to fixed income in light of higher rates and expected returns. Based on Fiducient's modeling, a 10% increase in the portfolio's allocation to fixed income serves to deliver attractive risk adjusted returns.

Fixed Income Portfolio - Suggestion to further consider reducing the allocation to the BlackRock Strategic Income Opportunities to 2.5% and reallocating those funds to the intermediate strategies to get duration and higher credit exposure.

Given the current environment of inflation both domestically and abroad as well as the likelihood of Federal rate cuts portfolio allocations to broad real assets will be important.

Suggestion to modestly reduce the allocation target from 5.0% to 2.5% and to use the proceeds to increase the portfolio's allocation to fixed income given the return/risk tradeoff.

The Board agreed to make the following changes within the current target ranges: Reduce the BlackRock position by 2.5 % and reallocate those funds to other fixed income sleeves.

Reduce the Real Asset allocation down to 2.5% and reallocate those funds to other fixed income sleeves.
