IV. RESIDENTS & PROPERTY OWNERS COMMENTS

Dave Schroeder Jr., resident was present to speak about issues that he feels the Commissions should consider getting further involved in. Mr. Schroeder gave Fort Decatur history information and presented an idea to recognize the fort as a historical area with status.

-Recognize Mount/Fort Decatur in the Plan of Conservation (POCD) as a historic resource with the long-term goal of preserving the entire hill and site intact, ultimately pursuing National Historic Site status.

-Reintroducing Historic District design guidelines into the zoning regulations, and potentially involving the Historic District Commission in planning reviews within those districts.

-Updating language in the POCD and Zoning regulations to better protect the historic character of the reinstated Gales Ferry/Ledyard Center Historic District and adjacent zoning areas.

-Exploring public art initiatives to commemorate Ledyard's significant history as part of the 250 anniversary of the Declaration of Independence.

Proposed ideas:

1. A statue of Steven Decatur for display in Gales Ferry.
2. A statue of either John Ledyard the Explorer or William Ledyard the Commander of Fort Griswold for Ledyard Center.
3. A commissioned painting of the USS United dSatets, Macedonian and Hornet anchored at the foot of Mount Decatur, with the fort above and the river view looking toward Gales Ferry/New London, to be prominently displayed in the Town Hall Annex.

Ms. Parkinson said she supports Mr. Schroeder's ideas but spoke of her frustrations with preservation of the Spicer Ruins project. Mr. Schroeder said that during covid-19 many of the old Historic guidelines disappeared.

Councilor Barnes said that pages 50-53 of the POCD describes historic preservation.

Mr. Kelley thanked Mr. Schroeder for coming forward with his concerns and documentation and said the Commission would discuss these ideas further at the next meeting.

2. Nathan Lester House - Mr. Kelley.

Mr. Kelley's report:

The Lester House completed its 2025 open season by extending past the November 1, 2 weekend. We will close for regular tours until May, 2026. We have several interior projects planned while the house is closed.

As always, the house and barns are available for pre-arranged tours outside the regular season. We have been privileged to share with several other house museums and private individuals who are restoring or maintaining historic buildings.

Issues with the alarm system have been resolved.

Clarifications on a few quotes are being sought before plans are finalized.

Our partners at Ledyard Public Works have completed a major clean up along the exit drive. They have fully uncovered the stone wall along that drive, as well removed many invasive saplings and damaged trees. We greatly appreciate this long-standing partnership and the care that Public Works takes with the Lester House property.

A reminder that the Yuletide event returns on Sunday, December 7, from 1:00 to 4:00pm. The Ledyard Historical Society hosts, and carolers from Ledyard High School will perform. The Ledyard Garden Club will green the house on Saturday the 6th. We hope to see you all there.

1. Any Other New Business to come before the Commission.

Mr. Kelley visited the 1826 Russell Gallup House on 528 Colonel Ledyard Highway (Applewood Farmhouse). Russell Gallup was a Deacon of the Congregational Church for 50 years. The home is on the historical register and is in terrible shape. It has an old barn, timber framed, and it is possible to save if a tarp is put on it. Mr. Kelley said it's worth preserving. John Kelley evaluated the house and said the basic structure is sound. Mr. Kelley said it is almost like a compact version of the Nathan Lester House.

Ms. Parkinson said the Day Paper had an article on November 7 about all of the prehistoric root cellars on the Farmer's Preserve.

Logs are going to the Sawmill.

Mr. Kelley said the NLH should get a cement pad in the cellar (under the tank) before Anderson Oil does any work.

Ms. Parkinson said there are new flyers for the Tri-Town Trail including a QR code. Mr. Kelley requested some for the Nathan Lester House.

During the December meeting the Commission will need to vote on a new Chairperson as well as extend a few expiring positions.

Ms. Kelley said the Commission could use a Fiscal Agent to alleviate that responsibility from the Chairperson. Mr. Godino said he would consider that role.
